

H-AGEP Annual Conference

2022

September 22
2022

The City College of New York
Advance Science Research Center

The H-AGEP Annual Conference will take place at The City College of New York on Thursday, September 22, 2022. The focus of the conference is to provide graduate students, post-docs, and faculty in STEM fields an opportunity to learn more about academic careers at community colleges, enhance their network, and facilitate interaction with faculty and administrators from community colleges to better position itself on how to succeed in its efforts. Faculty from community colleges in New York, and Texas will moderate panel discussions that will address key faculty roles in two-year institutions, and how faculty work to provide opportunities for students to pursue higher education and/or careers in the STEM workforce.
